Economic Advisory Panel Drafts Plan for 20-Year Vision

The Proscenium

Real Salt Lake Soccer Stadium

Mayor Tom Dolan invited a cross-section of individuals from the Sandy community to lead the Sandy Economic Advisory Panel. The panel was made up of citizens, community coordinators, members of the Planning Commission, members of the City Council, business leaders who live in Sandy, and Sandy business owners. The panel of approximately 70 individuals helped to create a long-term vision for economic development in the civic center corridor of the city.

Having a forward and progressive plan will help Sandy implement projects slated to start soon. Examples of the plan would include The Proscenium, a mixed-use project that would include a Broadway-style theater and the anticipated variety of development around the Real Stadium. The proposed projects are an economic boon to the city and leaders want to make sure every avenue is researched to maximize their benefits. Leveraging these opportunities and continuing to grow Sandy's economy was the panel's main focus.

"Over the past decade, we've worked to bring positive economic development projects to our city, which will increase our tax base and provide amenities to our residents," said Mayor Tom Dolan. "In the next 20 years, Sandy will continue to grow. A majority of the growth will take place in the civic corridor of the city with retail, office and entertainment opportunities. Our challenge is to drive this growth in a thoughtful way that will continue to enhance the quality of life for our residents and continue to build our reputation as one of the best places to live and do business in the West."

The following are the guiding principles created by the committee.

- Create distinct character districts in downtown Sandy City.
- Connect with key transit destinations.
- Create walkable streets and projects.
- Establish uses and architecture that are people-oriented.
- Build and enhance a network of parks and trails.
- Provide incentives to investors who partner with the city on constructing more sustainable and efficient buildings.

- Cluster entertainment venues.
- Integrate residential uses among commercial uses.

Ready Your Business Workshops

The Local Emergency Planning Committee (LEPC) in Sandy is offering a "Ready Your Business" program consisting of 12 monthly workshops geared to help businesses remain successful during and after a crisis.

The workshops are offered at no cost to local businesses. Topics include emergency management basics, safeguarding vital records, development planning strategies and business impact analysis. These 12 modules are designed to be a "how-to" resource for businesses who want to enhance any existing emergency planning.

Workshops are held on the second Thursday of the month from 1:30 to 3 p.m. at Sandy City Hall in the Multi-Purpose Room (Room 341).

Businesses interested in attending, can pre-register online at www.sandy.utah.gov/businessworkshop or call Sandy City's Emergency Management Coordinator at 568-7279.

The classes are being sponsored by Sandy City and the Sandy Area Chamber of Commerce.
